

Saturday December 9, 2017 – 9:40pm

STORM BENJI UPDATE - The Marlboro Department of Public Works (DPW) pretreated local roads in advance of this storm and has been salting the roadways throughout the afternoon. As the snow tapers off, plows will begin making the rounds late this evening to clear the accumulation of slush in the roadways. Note roads may be slippery during the overnight as temperatures fall into the early morning. A quick melt is expected tomorrow with sunshine and above freezing temperatures in the forecast.

Please refrain from moving your vehicles into the roadways while DPW finishes plowing. We remind you that it is both against town ordinance and unsafe to shovel or blow snow into the streets from your driveway or from your cars as the snow refreezes and creates icy roadways.

Thank you for your cooperation and stay safe.

Mayor Jon Hornik